Edmonton's Streets Among Dirtiest on the Continent

AMAZEMENT SHOWS on face of Bulletin Reporter Stan Burke as he weighs nine pounds, nine ounces of dirt swept and scraped from square yard of Jasper avenue sidewalk. Dirt was caked almost inch thick in places.

Means Not Lacking For Cleaner City

(Editor's Note: The following article is in line with the Edmonton Bulletin's policy of bringing all the facts of issues of public interest before the citizens. The Bulletin believes that if it is not, it belives citizens should know why.)

Civic officials say they have the power to call upon all the men, shovels, brooms and trucks they need to keep the city clean.

That is why the city's streets and sidewalks are among the dirtiest on the continent today.

The statement that there is no shortage of help to clean streets comes from City Engineer J. D. A. Macdonald, who says he believes that there is "no practical limit" to the number of men with brooms and shovels who can be brought into the city to clean up the dirt on the top of the keeps the streets clean all year round. The trucks to collect dust and dirt they would sweep up are available, too, if the city wants them.

Why aren't they being thrown into the battle against dirt? Mr. Macdonald says he considers the present team is adequate, but admits it is not enough.

But the dirtiness of the top of the streets shows that it is not.

The proof is in the clouds of dust the wind whips up in dry weather, right in the heart of the city, and in the high-walled city's flung efforts create.

Admits Inadequacy

Mr. Macdonald says that the present street cleaning equipment consists of three mechanical sweepers, four water-flushing and sprinkling trucks, and two trucks for hauling dirt and snow.

He admits that this was totally inadequate to cope with street cleaning last year and two new sweepers will be able to keep the city clean, and oneisher are on order.

Mr. Macdonald says he "hopes" that with the new equipment, his department will be able to keep the city clean, and can give no guarantee.

The city, too, has preferred to wait for the weather to start the job so as to avoid the expense of the hurryings by truck by cutting the men and machines needed to do the work.

Mr. Macdonald says the reason

HERE ARE REASONS FOR ALL THAT DIRT

Why must Edmontonians wade through mud and dirt on the city's paved streets, and choke on the dust, dirt and mud? An Edmonton Bulletin survey shows it's because

1. Too little street cleaning equipment is thrown into the cleanup battle too late in the season. And too little equipment and manpower is devoted to the campaign all summer.

2. The bylaw making it an offence to throw refuse or dirt on paved pavements is not enforced.

3. Hundreds of miles of unpaved thoroughfares, side streets and lanes are inadequately treated to lay the dust.

4. There is no bylaw prohibiting all-night parking on paved streets, and parked cars seriously impede street cleaning.

5. The city's 83 miles of paved streets are grossly inadequate.

6. There is a lack of vision on the administration's part in not building a street cleaning force adequate to the city's needs.

Chinese Is Acquitted In Sam Kee's Murder

Hong Suy Chin has been found "not guilty" of murdering Sam Kee.

A sign of "oha" rose from Mr. Justice Shepherd's Supreme Court room where jury foreman W. H. Glover of Westlock, announced the verdict at 6:45 p.m. last night.

The jury had deliberated nearly two and a half hours before they had backed into the hushed courtroom.

Hong Suy Chin, 37, who had fought for his life these last four days, raised his head from hunched July 19.

Gilbert is under sentence to hang Monday, but he will be held in custody until his trial date (believed sometime in November) after a change of command.

There was unanimous agreement among them.

"Stand up," Mr. Justice Shepherd ordered the stocky little Chinese.

With measured emphasis he told him, "you're the luckiest man in the world to have been found guilty."

City Census Will Start Here Tuesday

Annual count of noses starts in Edmonton Tuesday.

Civic officials said today a crew of 2000 census enumerators, all armed with hammers and credentials, will tally residents for both the annual civic census and the Veterans Day count.

The number of enumerators will increase until June, and figures are expected to be available in June or early in July.

Last year the staff reached 60.

Meeting of Senate of University of Alberta will be held in senate chamber at Arts building at 10:00 a.m. May 13. Persons desiring to make arrangements to speak in meeting should address them to the university registrar.

Town Planner Neil Cant is off to Winnipeg this weekend in search of additional help in planning the city's growth.

He will interview an applicant for a post in his department.

Parks department workers plan to make Arbor Day count in the city's beautification.

The 10th anniversary of the 18th street between Jasper and 104 avenues, on Monday.

Superintendent Sandy Patterson said today that already 1000 trees have been planted and 1000 more will be planted on the new golf course, just east and north of the Dawson bridge.

Industrial building permits application today's appointment at the city architect and building inspector's office.

Canadian Oil Company of Calgary took out a permit for a $100,000 warehouse and office building at 1113-105 Avenue, and one for $80,000 for a garage and office at 104-105 Avenue. Armored Car and Drainage Products was granted a permit for a $15,000 steel panel office building at 7003-105 Avenue.

Appointments of Brewnie district commissioners was announced today by Miss Gwen Rhy. Appointed northwest district commissioner was Mr. Hugh Stellis, while Charles Keenright was appointed southeast district commissioner. The former district includes St. Andrews, St. Peter's, Sherwood Park, and the areas of the Rockies and the latter district, St. Alphonse, Eastwood and Alverna groups.

Lack of definite provincial housing policy for low-income workers was criticized last night at meeting of Kingsway branch of Canadian Legion.

Delegates attending the Dominion convention in Winnipeg next month were instructed to bring pressure to see if action could be taken by the federal government "to recognize their responsibilities in this serious matter."

It was noted that suggestion of the Alberta provincial command for a legislative committee to consider housing had been refused by the government.

HARD-WORKER right around clock is Jimmie Stebbing who houses Pacific Pete nerve centre at Redwater field. He keeps things moving by radio.

Energetic Young Man Proving Alger Theory

By Stanley Burke

Bulletin Staff Writer

Out in the Redwater field there's a young man out to prove those Horatio Alger stories can still come true.

Jimmie Stebbing is on the job now, and he's doing it with hardly even dicks never goes round with girls; he hasn't taken a day off work since last January.

And that's not all. He's already played a major part in setting an all-time fire-fighting record in the industry.

These two years old Jimmie houses the Pacific Pete "nerve centre" in the Redwater field and operates the radio net.

When Pacific's Excelsior No. 2 oil well went wild he was the man who got the first alarm over the radio system. He immediately went into action and within two hours had assembled almost every tool needed to fight the fire.

Twenty-two hours later the giant geyser which was established and 38 hours later the exploding gas jet was capped and tamed.

This fast-action fire-fighting is typical of the young man who got a world's record for extinguishing a gas blaze.

RADIO DID IT

"It was the radio that made it," he commented. "I was able to get hold of 25 water trucks; that's every one in Redwater field—six buildings, and all the other equipment we needed on the spot in a few hours."

The oil company radio network is already used to direct operations as far north as the Peace River area, and the young man says, "We'll sell us a lot of miles running," said radioman Stebbing.

That's mighty important on these roads which finish a vehicle in one hour.

"It was the radio that made it," he commented. "I was able to get hold of 25 water trucks; that's every one in Redwater field—six buildings, and all the other equipment we needed on the spot in a few hours."

Drilling operations at Royalite's Triad 1 began today and will continue at Triad 8-1 which has reached the 1963 foot level.

Twenty-two hours later the giant geyser which was established and 38 hours later the exploding gas jet was capped and tamed.

I Garbage Disposal

The situation at the north end garbage dump, near 90 street and 125 avenue where the city engineer continues to deposit garbage in defiance of the city commissioners' order that the dump be closed, made it clear that a new system of garbage disposal will have to be devised by city council at the earliest possible moment.

Last year conditions at this dump, which is located within three blocks of two city schools, became so bad that citizens protested to the city commissioners.

The commissioners investigated the complaint and found it just. So they ordered that the dump be closed and posted a sign to that effect.

But the garbage wagons ignored it. They went right on piling up the rubbish until the heap is higher than it was last Fall.

Fleas, odors and disease germs multiply in this pile of decaying refuse.

Rains raise the lighter pieces of debris and scatter them throughout the neighborhood, including the yards of the Detonators.

And Edmonton children are educated in the aroma of rotting garbage.

Now it is an amazing thing that one department of the city is permitted to flout the orders of the commissioners. It is more astonishing still that the commissioners were unaware that their orders were being defied.

But this is a mere unpleasant detail of administration alongside the more general problem of how to dispose of garbage in Edmonton.

For the conditions we describe are not peculiar to the dump on 90 street and 125 avenue. Every garbage dump in the city is in the same condition. The basic truth is that the garbage disposal system is obsolete and totally unsuited to the needs of a city of Edmonton's size and population.

It is neither sanitary nor tolerable to pile up garbage anywhere within the city limits.

We are aware, as Dr. G. M. Little has pointed out, that garbage disposal is a costly business and that the erection of incinerators is expensive. Estimates vary so greatly, however, as to impossible to hazard a guess as to what adequate plants would cost in Edmonton.

But something must be done. Any thing would be less expensive than a disastrous outbreak of disease.

The least council can do is to gather all possible information about garbage disposal elsewhere and to launch some rational and modern program of disposal, even if it requires years to completely implement it.

Military Law and the Rebels

It is amazing to the rest of Canada that military law has not been invoked to quell the disgraceful disturbances among the so-called Sons of Freedom in British Columbia.

The fanatic sect among the Doukhobors is in open rebellion against the laws of Canada.

Police forces were not intended to deal with this sort of violence on a major scale.

Years ago when tribes of Indians used to raid the farms and homesteads were roundly told by the thousands to leave them across the country and put them to death.

It is time the armed forces were instructed to go in and clean the rebels up.

Passenger Safety Must Come First

Shipping interests on the Pacific Coast are protesting vigorously against the safety regulations imposed upon passenger ships as a result of the Noronic disaster in Toronto.

They deserve these new federal fire regulations but may put some of the small passenger liners out of business because it will cost around $100,000 per vessel to make the automatic sprinkler and fire alarm systems demanded by the new order-in-council.

That cost will be too bad.

But if these small lines are not able to give up the safety of their passengers from fire, they have no business to be operating at all.

And if they are not willing to take these safety measures, perhaps it will be better if they are forced out of business.

The regulations are not at all unreasonable from the viewpoint of the layman.

Today the Doukhobor rebellion, infinitely more serious and rendered more offensive by the obscene factor, is treated like any other outbreak of crime.

What British Columbia does not seem to appreciate is that all law and order are being flagrantly violated by these people.

Whether this group of fanatics and homicidal fanatics is being publicized, potential criminals are being impressed by the ease with which the very fundamental principles of our democracy are defied.

It is the job of the armed forces, for police purposes, to put them to death.

It is time the armed forces were instructed to go in and clean the rebels up.

To compel a vessel to be equipped with sprinkler and alarm systems is no greater hardship than is imposed by law on most hotels and places of business in most cities.

If hotels cannot afford this equipment, so can the floating hotels which are passenger ships.

The United States went through all this years ago when safety regulations applying to ships were so laxly enforced that it required a series of major sea disasters to bring the powers to their senses and to force the Federal government to the sweat of others who should be humbly glad of the trouble it remembers, too, the millions of lives lost in the sinking of the Lusitania.

The Dean, however, unlike so many members of the class, does not believe that "shut up" is the best attitude and a contempt for democracy would violently oppose being applied to it educationally.

These days, only those who consider themselves Communists or big business are to be found.

All who disagree with the big shot "enemies" agents" are to be persecuted and if necessary beaten.

How is it that purchasers of Welsh coal are as much at risk as the miners? What is the difference in his pocket? It certainly isn't going into the pockets of the Canadian purchaser?

Mystery Light Work of Devil Says Victorian

Maury Fallow and his Edmonton Flying Club are enthused in the mystery light work of the devil in the opinion of a Victoria lady.

She read in the paper that secretaries were being Maury Fallow and friends into the light to investigate a mysterious light seen several times recently in the sky over Victoria.

In alarm she wrote to warn he was becoming involved in the machinations of the Evil One.

"The Devil, Satan, plotted to the ruin of the human race," she said.

Similar lights in the night seen in parts of British Columbia were unsuccessfully pursued in automobiles, they pointed out.

The same lights are always the same, she said. "You never be any the wiser."

Flying saucers are also B.C. dikes, according to the Victoria lady states.

Air Assistance For B.C. If Floods Hit In May

CALGARY, April 28.—(CP)—Plans are being made here for an "airlift" to British Columbia if floods strike the West Coast province next month.

Both Trans-Canada Airlines and Canadian Pacific Airlines have made arrangements for extra air craft.

In 1948 the West Coast was cut off from the rest of Canada except by air travel and during June of that year the Calgary River was the basest it had ever been. Now with heavy snow still in the mountains, the railroads and the dams that a sudden water spillover will cause flood conditions, the airlines are ready to go into action.

TCA spokesman, Captain E. G. Hartman, said that the flight to Vancouver was scheduled to go into operation soon. If flood conditions warrant it, this flight would be changed to provide an air shuttle service and extra planes would be brought into use.

SNOW LINE LOW

Canadian Pacific Airlines which flies between Vancouver and Victoria, said pilots have reported the snow line low on the mountains, indicating a heavy runoff will continue.

The major problem of the CP Airlines would be transportation of rail passengers should washouts halt rail traffic as in 1948. The airline is preparing to put extra flights into operation to handle the service. Two planes have been set up in case of minor holdups, and the other in case of a major breakdown.

The English language is spoken by more than 270,000 people.

H-Type Aerials Lifting Local Municipalities

SAIGON, Indochina, April 28.—(AP)—The strongly pro-French government has appointed as the new premier of Viet Nam. He hopes to submit a cabinet to Chief of State Bao Dai within a week. Premier Tran Van Huu succeeds Gen. Pham Long, first premier of Viet Nam, whose resignation was accepted by Bao Dai last night.

Some have forbidden the press to report the grounds of unlightedness; others are preparing special insurance terms and insisting on a permit before granting permission to build.

Local authorities are considering a heavy runoff will continue.

It is reported that the aerials are being erected by the communities which refuse to allow them.

DVA STEPS INTO COURT TO AID VET

The Department of Veterans Affairs started into the Edmonton police court yesterday to help a veteran in trouble.

The veteran had pleaded guilty to a charge of obtaining $20 by means of a worthless check last August.

He was released on a six-month suspended sentence after a DVA official said application could be made to the "main office" to have the veteran's small pension applied as restitution payments in place of fines.

They had succeeded in retrieving the sum of $20, plus some dollars in currency from the Bank of Montreal.

The official said six months was not quite long enough to make full restitution within the period of time the sentence as stipulated by Magistrate S. G. Main.

"If he is trying to avoid being a criminal, he can make a difference out of his pocket," the magistrate answered. "I am going to let the terms stand."

GOV'T FILM TO PREVIEW HERE SOON

Last night's preview picture to be shown in Alberta by government authorities, "Alberta Vacation," will have its premiere Friday.

The picture will be shown at 8 p.m. at the Beverton Building to invited guests.

Plans for the film, which the department of economic affairs made the picture during the vacation season in Alberta, were prepared entirely by the department.

"Autumn in Alberta" was the picture will have its Calgary premiere Wednesday.

23 Hutterites Off to Mexico

MACLEOD, Alta., April 26.—(CP)—A group of 23 Hutterites advance agents for 450 tentatively members of the Hutterite community in trucks for Mexico.

The Hutterite group will negotiate land for land for their colonies of the 23 families, mostly from brothers who came to Alberta from South Dakota and Manitoba in 1946.

The party will investigate land possibilities in the Chinookan district. This is about 200 miles south east of Sonora, where most advances agents said there are excellent opportunities for settlement.

Rev. Lawrence Teicher is acting as leader for the delegation, which left yesterday.

A spokesman said the proposed move was influenced by a desire for education, family reasons and religious reasons. Although they had been treated fairly by the Alberta government, they felt they were not wanted here.

Would Broaden College Training

VANCOUVER, B.C.—(CP)—University training may some day be available to all high school graduates, according to Dr. J. W. M. MacKenzie, president of the University of B.C., said here recently.

Every high school graduate in the province has the right to higher education if he is able to afford it, said Dr. MacKenzie.

"I can foresee the day when, through adequate scholarships, bursaries and loans, it will be possible to make this a reality. But it must be remembered that not everyone is fitted to profit by a college education," he added.

Red-Led Jobless Handed Brushoff

Parliament Interrupted As Eight Men Attempt To Speak

By John E. Niel

OTTAWA, April 28.—(BUT)—A left-wing jobless delegation invaded Ottawa yesterday, but got a stiff brushoff from parliament and the government.

Nine Communists, unemployed workers were recently ejected from the House of Commons galleries when they made an unprecedented attempt to speak to parliament.

Leader of the group was identified as Ray Collett, general secretary of the Canadian provisional president of the national convention of unemployed organizations COMMUNISTED.

This group, which has been labelled "Communist" by other organizations, has no connection with the union of unemployed workers recently organized by the Canadian Congress of Unemployed.

Collett opened a conference here.

Lie, who arrived aboard the liner Queen Mary, refused comment on his purpose in coming to Canada or why the UN is reorganized without Communists.

"I am afraid I cannot say that the general position is healthier now than when I was in England a year ago," he said.

Lie plans to confer with European leaders.

He also hopes for the third session to be held by the delegates. He attacked them for "incompetence" and "lack of leadership." St. Laurent had refused to see them.

Uniformed members of the Canadian protective staff went into the committee room to demonstrate from the public galleries.

They attempted to address parliament. Several of them put up a sign that read: "We are here to be heard."

After ORDER CALL

Many Lured To Tangier

TANGIER, Morocco—(UPI)—A city without income tax, an Arab atmosphere, the galleries here are washed and the citizens are clean, is luring more and more Europeans.

Tangier is also a tantalizing show window of the beauties of international culture.

Prices are low in this model city. Scotch and American whiskies cost less than 10 cents a bottle. Imported cars, new automobiles stream through the clean streets. American radios, French perfumes and lingerie, English clothing in shops to attract the tourist's eyes and money. And almost any country's money is good here.

Tangier is financed by a flat 15 per cent duty on all imports except gold and diamonds, which are charged 75 per cent. Hence the freedom from import taxes.

Even the North African weather is good. Rain falls on an average only 90 days a year. At 118 days there aren't even any clouds.

It all because today the elevator man is king. Millions seem to be here, and the porters, waiters, busboys, chambermaids, housekeepers, waiters come up and see their names listed.

About 12,000 men and women operators, janitors, waiters, service employees of 1,000 Manhattan apartment houses were on strike a day ago. They are back to work now, but a 40-hour instead of 48-hour week. They also ask a welfare plan.

INCONVENIENCES It was a day of inconveniences as far as Tangier goes. For more than 100,000 of the city's "cliff dwellers."

Landlords contend they can't stand added expense while rents continue to rise.

The union says present wages range between $45 and $60 and $62.50.

In many other things apartment dwellers take for granted—milk deliveries, for instance—halted. Groceries and newspapers littered many lobbies.

QUITS FOR DAY

One laundryman, tired of climbing stairs on Park Avenue, quit for the day. His place of business is closed, his laundry services too.

While our two-week-old son gives extensive business, walked up all 11 flights that morning to assure him he'd be safe.

The city's health department got the union's cooperation in running elevators on Park Avenue, quit for the day. But the company that runs the elevators, the elevator service, too.

No doctors and aged and ailing persons were given special lift service, but the health department insisted that the union do this for two women who claimed they could not get down stairs to walk their dogs.

Road Building Costs Go Down

CHICAGO (UPI)—The American Public Works Association reports that the cost of highway construction and maintenance appears to be leveling off.

The association, citing a study by a committee of experts, said automobile reported lower road construction costs for 1949 than in 1946.

Some states found competition for highway work is increasing, due partly to greater availability of materials, supplies, equipment and labor.

The cost of correcting existing highway shortcomings throughout the nation was placed at $41,344, 000.

A Man of Few Words . . .

Let's spin the sports sphere: "Babe" Sharkey, at one time the most colorful and most ineptuous manager ever to show at the Cow Palace, is serving it up for mat addicts in the Los Angeles area. Verily "The Babe," who looks and talks like a little greenie, Schreier, of the hockey crowd, is a man of few words. A few words, though, he's interesting, also makes sense. And when we're there—dept.: Glen Prender, California lefthander who pitched for Cubs of the Big Four in 1945, has hooked on with Twin Falls in the Pioneer loop. Twin Falls is Eddie Morris' "old club" . . . For all of those last pants and quick-change engineers, you can't beat Gorden Russell. Russell is a pretty sharp business woman. She's asking a guarantee of $100,000 from tennis promoter Bobby Riggs before she'll turn professional.

Dash for Cash did just that at Baye de Grace the other afternoon, the now-vanished finishing second in a sprint test over the Maryland track.

Emile Van Velsen, popular figure with mat followers in the reign of promoter Mike (Da Cutch) Cuthbert, is making a comeback. He's on Al (The Boy) Promoter's Omelette Tuesday night.

Lloyd Turner on the Prowl

His club may be in the Allan cup final, and all that, but Calgary Stamp manager Lloyd Turner isn't forgetting that the Cowboys whizzed in one or two spots this past season. Recently it was reported that Turner had signed "Buz" Mellor and Bill Hrycuk, starry Lambois forwards. Now he's said to be dancing a nifty off in front of the press, and a few more names will be added to his invaluable plus signs. Another non-talent, the Western International loop thus past season, TV, or not TV, is preventing the biggest kind of heads for U.S. sports promoters, particularly along the coast. Attentiveness at baseball and racism go to the dogs, and the promoters' percentage of contracts about to be torn up.

The masses, especially, because most of them work on a percentage basis, are getting the burn end of the stick.

There should be some action cuts next week on the prairie, with the entry in the Western Canada Junior baseball circuit. Right now it appears that the Edmonton Hawks will bankrupt the team, on the understanding among other things, that they pay a flat fee to the city athletic club for each player produced by these organizations.

Portrait of a puckster with a future: Much publicized Donny (C-Form) Lewicki, 18-year-old winger of Toronto Marlboros.

The Weaker Sex But . . .

Look for the Edmonton and District Tennis association to do alright during the presidency of recently-elected president, Tom Byrne. The more gregarious go-getter, isn't likely to go for being poked around, not even by the mere males on her executive . . . Reader wants to know who owns Calandria, recent addition to prairie racing circle. Answer is a veteran Saskatoon horseman named Ferguson. The bartender regulars look for Calandria to stand card-marks, so as to be real rough in the handicap division this summer.

Bud McDonald, Golden Boy winner at the Bulletin's Golden Gloves tourney in January, is in the Dominion amateur boxing meet at Lethbridge, next month. He's really promising. There's a new face alike dept.: Hank Greenberg, of Cleveland Indians and Pittsburgh slugger Ralph Kiner; Flyers' winger "Handy Andy" Clovachok and Brooklyn Dodgers' "Preacher" Roy.

It's later than you think, folks, if you haven't entered the Bulletin's third annual Kentucky derby contest. Hurry! Hurry!

IN EDMONTON ON VISIT

'Bad Man' Gadsby Nice Guy Off Ice

By Bart Gibb

Chicago Black Hawks' Bill Gadsby "ain't" so tough.

Although fourth in the NHL play-offs, Gadsby is a pretty minute in the hoosegow, off skates Gadsby is a pretty nice guy.

The former Canadian junior defenceman, who hails from Calgary, arrived in town last week, taking up his post in right field for Calgary Buffalo of the Four-Ball circuit.

In an instant, last night Gadsby gave the impression that hockey is business. And when he is out in front of Hawk goalie Brimsek, he means business, but on the street he is a good-natured, good-humored hockey player.

When asked what he thought of the team, Bill Gadsby, who last year was one of the best prospects in the league, responded, "I was surprised to see Eddie Shore, on the ice, the same way last year, going hot at the right time."

Gadsby, who collected 30 points in 40 games last year, also stated that they ended in the cellar because "we didn't have any back-ups."

As far as the Chicago Canadiens, the big defenceman thinks the former Toronto star is one of the best. "Gadsby liked him, and I think he's a good boy, was tough and a good team," said Gadsby. "If you predicted he was OK."

The young athlete who batted .271 for Buffs last season says, "I hope to knock the pants off Edmonton this year." He's been suspended by the British Boxing Board of Control.

NBA and the suspension would be in effect until Ortiz fulfills a contract to box for promoter Jack Doherty.

The young athlete who batted .271 for Buffs last season says, "I hope to knock the pants off Edmonton this year." He's been suspended by the British Boxing Board of Control.

Ortiz, who signed to fight with Rudy's Clothes Suits Coats in Johannesburg, South Africa, May 20.

The likable hockey and baseball player plans to stay in Edmonton for a few days until it warms up. In Canada, he's been told, the southwest American winter is too cold, with the British weather having had more enough weather to work out.

MONTREAL — Of course! NHL players, there are 32 who have played for two or more clubs in the circuit.

among other things, that they pay a flat fee to the city athletic club for each player produced by these organizations.

A Man of Few Words . . .

Let's spin the sports sphere: "Babe" Sharkey, at one time the most colorful and most ineptuous manager ever to show at the Cow Palace, is serving it up for mat addicts in the Los Angeles area. Verily "The Babe," who looks and talks like a little greenie, Schreier, of the hockey crowd, is a man of few words. A few words, though, he's interesting, also makes sense. And when we're there—dept.: Glen Prender, California lefthander who pitched for

Cubs of the Big Four in 1945, has hooked on with Twin Falls in the Pioneer loop. Twin Falls is Eddie Morris' "old club" . . . For all of those last pants and quick-change engineers, you can't beat Gorden Russell. Russell is a pretty sharp business woman. She's asking a guarantee of $100,000 from tennis promoter Bobby Riggs before she'll turn professional.

Dash for Cash did just that at Baye de Grace the other afternoon, the now-vanished finishing second in a sprint test over the Maryland track.

in the reign of promoter Mike (Da Cutch) Cuthbert, is making a comeback. He's on Al (The Boy) Promoter's Omelette

Tuesday night.

Lloyd Turner on the Prowl

His club may be in the Allan cup final, and all that,

but Calgary Stamp manager Lloyd Turner isn't forgetting that the Cowboys whizzed in one or two spots this past season. Recently it was reported that Turner had signed

"Buz" Mellor and Bill Hrycuk, starry Lambois forwards. Now he's said to be dancing a nifty off in front of the press, and a few more names will be added to his valuable plus signs. Another non-talent, the Western

International loop thus past season, TV, or not TV, is preventing the biggest kind of heads for U.S. sports promoters, particularly along the coast. Attentiveness at baseball and racism go to the dogs, and the promoters' percentage of contracts about to be torn up.

The masses, especially, because most of them work on a percentage basis, are getting the burn end of the stick.

Bigger Gas Supply Seen In Edmonton

Substantial increase in the volume of gas produced to serve Edmonton anticipated soon by Northwestern Utilities.

General M. K. Yeastow says: "The company will begin drilling six new wells in the Kinsella field next week. These will be connected to the existing wells with new wells in the field which have been capped until now."

INCREASE TO BE FELT

The substantial increase in production from the new wells will be felt in Edmonton and in all towns between here and Viking and between Edmonton and the Peace River district.

McLver Drilling Co. will move its office here in order to have facilities to handle the drilling operations.

At present, the company is engaged in drilling wells for Canadian Gas Co. at a number of western points at Bow Island northeast of Lethbridge.

The new Kinsella wells will be in with the new Northwestern's new $700,000 gas line project from Devon to Edmonton.

FIRST FROM LEDUC

The line will be the first from the Leduc gas fields and will be completed by June 1. The Canadian Gas Co. has a $100,000 gas line between Leduc and Edmonton.

McLver Drilling Co. has recently started work on a gas line between Leduc and Edmonton.

It will increase intermediate pressure efficiency and supply the city power plant.

A new high pressure retarding station just south of the city limits said Mr. Yeastow.

on the TOWN...

By Jack DeLong

Business Opportunities

Business potentials that might be exploited with profit.

Reading fortunes from beer glasses in local taverns. Aerial excursions to the Arctic ice pack during summer. Boat trips.

Sell loose Alberta soil from Edmonton streets to farmers in sandy areas. (This should be good for a reduced mill rate if the city set up the business on its own).

Utilization of heat developed at Edmonton Boxing and Wrestling Commission meetings to boost electric power plant output.

Chemist Tom Crouch says he spent a whole week searching both banks of the North Saskatchewan for the Lean Mary. He wants to get a job as cook.

Trip for Cassey

Cassey, that pleasant-faced waitress in the Shasta, was born at Smoky Lake, about 60 miles northeast of Edmonton. The trip to Edmonton was the longest she had ever made.

So it's going to be quite a change for Cassey, away down in New Mexico. Cassey's going to marry a GI out of Uncle Sam's air forces on May 22 and will be stationed in New Mexico.

The waitress started a few months ago when the grounds were to be paused for a snack in the Jasper avenue car on a flight from Fairbanks.

Cassey will be missed by the customers. The gang of gals she works with will miss her too. Yesterday they tossed a small farewell party and presented Cassey with a comforter and some more farewell gifts.

A peeping Tom has won out in a legal battle before the supreme court of Canada. Their Lordships felt that window blinds should be put to use. A case of blind justice, I suppose.

Interesting Visitor

Had a visit yesterday from Mrs. Nancy Morrison, Mrs. Morrison lives with her two children at Langford Park, 45 miles west of Edmonton on the Jasper highway.

She wants to sell her tiny farm of 35 acres so she can move into the city where her husband works as a mechanic. Husband Alex has been totally blind since the age of three.

Despite that handicap he is a skilled mechanic with a city firm. He stays at the Canadian Institute for the Blind.

Up until three years ago he helped Mrs. Morrison look after 600 chickens at the farm.

The Morrisons gave up chicken-farming when the price of feed skyrocketed.

Both Morrison and his wife are enthusiastic radio "ham" operators. Morrison is considered by "hams" all over the country to be an expert on tone control.

The new "experts" of hamming, as a blind person. He plays cards, can harness horses and do just about anything a person with sight can do," says Mrs. Morrison.

But the Morrisons would like to get together, that's why Mrs. Morrison wants to sell out the country place and move into town.

Cashier Beatrice Eddy, over at the big hotel, is back from a vacation in Dartmouth, Nova Scotia. Dartmouth is quite close to Halifax but residents don't like to get around.

Beatrice had a lovely visit with her Mom and Pop. She says it would be a lovely swing in Nova Scotia if it weren't for the blizzards. She waded through snow drifts.

Now she's back in Edmonton wading through dust.

A thankful goodnight to all and especially to the people who have stopped seeing flying saucers in the past week.

Paving Job Goes Back To Its Original Width

It's back in the news—that 87 avenue paving job.

This time it's again on the city's schedule as a 44-foot wide proposition from 110 to 120 streets.

Last night City Council reversed the Mayor's decision to regrade the road and voted to cut the paving down to Town-Pave width of 34 feet.

Noel Dunn's recommendation: Last night Dr. J. W. Campbell resolved the width of the proposed paving to 44 feet.

The white thing had had enough adverse history.

Last year residents petitioned against having the two blocks paved.

This spring, after a year of dust, they petitioned again that the two blocks of east and west paving be put on the improved 44 feet.

Mrs. Perry Davies appeared before Council and asked that the paving be cut in 34 feet, and the trees in the boulevard left where they are.

He and he represented several residents.

WIDTH NEEDED

Council heard Town Planner Norl Dant explain the need for paving 44 feet wide. But it overruled him.

Altogether 67 per cent of Canadians feel 44 feet wide is the longitude 1 per cent of French, and 2 per cent are boughans.

It's Real Women's World Right to Collar Buttons

By BARNEY McKINLEY

Bulletin Staff Writer

There's no doubt about it—It's a woman's world.

Now they're going around buying up collar buttons.

This fact came to light yesterday in the course of a little research into the welfare of the collar button industry in this day of attached collar shirts.

All it started when the man who sold the last collar button had almost certainly long since rolled out of sight beneath some forgotten pieces of furniture and been abandoned. The owner went out and bought a shirt, the man said.

You probably couldn't buy a collar button in Edmonton now.

This conclusion proved a little wide of the mark.

"We men's clothes and a whole lot of collar buttons still bring manufactured and sold."

"Geezum, they use them," one salesman pointed out.

He said a few were also being sold to men for dress shirts.

Any women, buyers?

You know, we have a lot of customers who buy together the last button at a tailor.

The salesman wrapp'd a little around his head to illustrate.

"The caps are in use," he said, "and the shirt comes from the laundry pressed flat, that's how wraps it at the hotel, rest and fastens it with a button or two."

"Said four dozen of them yesterday to one of the hospitals," he said, for a clincher.

Bicycle Raffle Finances Trip

CHILDREN of Bashaw, Alta., raffled a bicycle to finance their escort on a trip to Edmonton yesterday. One highlight was visit to display of projected Canadian capital at Woodward's store. Miss Isobel Jordon, National Film Board, uses pointer to show interesting sections. Leslie O. Brown, Bashaw teacher, was in charge of pupils aged 12 to 15.

Appeal By Driver

Adrian Van Dyke, 12822-116A avenue, against penalty imposed by police officer on Tuesday when he pleaded guilty to a fourth speeding offence in Edmonton.

Van Dyke, a local Edmonton harrier said he had already made application on Van Dyke's behalf to have the officer's name struck off.

The driver was fined $10 and costs by Magistrate J. W. Parsons, who had given him two weeks to make arrangements. His driving license was automatically canceled.

That night he raffled a bicycle, collecting $35 to pay expenses of seven Bashaw residents who brought them to Edmonton by auto.

They had raffled a bicycle, raising $35 to pay expenses of seven Bashaw residents who brought them to Edmonton by auto.

They climbed up to the dome of the parliament buildings, visited the north, toured through the parkway, then down to play at Woodward's store of the town planning change in store for opening of the nation's capital.

ENQUIRIES

"I think they enjoyed the climb up to the dome than anything else," said Leslie O. Brown, teacher in charge of the group. He is one of the first to have applied for the new license.

They had there evening dinner at a post restaurant on Jasper avenue. Most of the children had $5 or more as spending money.

"We consider an annual trip to the dome in the interest of buy and sell," said Adrian Van Dyke, who had been to the dome every year since he was born.

He now, however, has him as a blind person. He plays cards, can harness horses and do just about anything a person with sight can do," says Mrs. Morrison.

Climbing Dome Best Fun On Educational Journey

SPRING THAW MEANS ROAD RESTRICTIONS

Sixty-fourth annual tax on Alaska highway, John A. Noble, road commissioner, reported to Council.

Anchorage to Palmer trucks are limited to 50 per cent gross load and all vehicles to 35 miles per hour.

To Bridge area, about .85 miles, is limited to passenger cars and pickup trucks with normal loads.

Other sections are unrestricted.

Studios Co-operating In Bulletin Baby Show

Several Edmonton photo studios are co-operating with the Bulletin and parent in the first annual Bulletin Best Baby Contest.

The following studios will participate in taking pictures of babies who may be entered in the contest:

Mayes Studios, Wylie Studio, Service Studio, The Maye Studio, Best's Studio, The Maye Studio, Freelance Studios, Geertz Studio, William Kendall Studio, Alberta Photo Studio, Garneau Studio and John E. Browne Studio.

Other studios are likely to share in the contest as it progresses.

The contest is divided into two divisions.

The contest is divided into two divisions.

A all that's necessary to enter a baby in either division is to fill out the application coupon that appears in the April 28 issue of The Bulletin each day and mail to the newspaper office.

Dorine Marie Gosselin Weds Joseph Dowell at Sacred Heart

Sacred Heart Church was flower-banked recently for the wedding of Dorine Marie Gosselin, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Gosselin, and Joseph E. Dowell, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Dowell, all of Edmonton.

Rev. Fr. Gillie officiated.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, accompanied by her mother in marriage. She was gowned in traditional white satin, fashioned with a many-tiered edging in deep canton lace, and boutonniere of alstroemerias. The full skirt ended gracefully in a long train.

FINGER TIP VEIL

She wore a finger tip veil of illusion with a lace border, matching the bouquet of carnations and pink roses. Her only jewellery was a double strand of pearls, a gift of the bride's parents.

Miss Rose Marie Gosselin was the sister's bridesmaid, wearing a gown of blue taffeta with a wide lace hem. Her hair was held back by a spray of blue hydrangeas, and she carried a shower bouquet of fragrant flowers.

Rev. Ann Dowell, sister of the bride, was maid of honour, wearing a peach satin, taffeta, combed blonde veil, and she carried a basket of spring blossoms.

The father of the bride, Lauri and Nedra, were in attendance. Nedra's yellow taffeta was white with lace and had a small bouquet of carnations and a small spray of blue hydrangeas.

Following business sessions, Mrs. Bachman served tea to members.

Victorian Order Hopes To Extend Service in West

An invitation to meet here was 98,000 visits altogether, in caring extended at last year's annual for a total of 182,720 patients.

Meeting in Ottawa by western delegates was said the need for home AIDS AT CHILDHOOD care was greater than ever before. Nurses, trained through the provinces, are pressing in the prairie nursing shortage, and giving expert instruction regarding Saskatchewan now has four new homes and the care of VON patients is increasing.

Manitoba and British Columbia have nine. The Canadian province with the largest number of branches in the west.

The VON was founded by Lady Aberdeen in 1887 when her husband was governor-general to meet the needs of the growing population of Canada.

Since then it has expanded to a Canadian branch with 110 branches and 571 nurses.

Opposition Fails Twice In Commons

OTTAWA, April 28.—(CP)—The Commons rejected two opposition motions of non-confidence in the government, last night—but were brought down by a 156-86 budget—and then quickly passed a bill intended to implement the task of passing budget resolutions.

The opposition's traditional opposition seats at the government in the budget debate, were answered, under these counts:

In the House of Commons, the chamber defeated a Progressive Conservative motion expressing regret that government policies made health care services available only to those who could afford to make a subsequent attempt to reduce costs and continued our program for national development.

In the Senate, a motion of 467 to 12, the chamber defeated a UCP amendment expressing regret that government policies indicated the government was prepared to accept the present level of production as adequate for Canadians.

HOUSE DIVISION

The House then adopted "on division" a motion of disapproval without a formal vote, and the government motion asked the chamber to open active study of the tax changes outlined in the budget.

The debate was adjourned on tax relief. It disrupted the debate on toilet soap and removed the sales-tax on ice cream, dairy drinks and prepared whipped cream and yogurt, and provided institutions for the aged and infirm.

These were adopted in committee stage after the divisions.

SACRED FAIL

An expected Sacred Credit non-confidence motion, generally moved after the major-party threats are dropped, was defeated. Senator Saan Low, Sacred Credit leader, entreated him to lecture the chamber on the benefits of Social Credit.

Participating in the debate as it was in a class were Donald Fleming (PC-Toronto), Egerton Ryerson (PC-Toronto), John G. Diefenbaker (PC-Vancouver), E. G. Harrel (SC-Macleod), C. A. Cannon (Liberals-De la Motte), R. R. Knight (CCF-Saskatoon) and G. Robertson (Northumberland).
